

Strategic Landpower: Call for Ideas

Reinforcing the discussion on Strategic Landpower, the U.S. Training and Doctrine Command (TRADOC) is looking for ideas and thought pieces on this subject. They are looking to foster and expand the discussion regarding the tenants and ideas of Strategic Landpower - what it should be and how it should shape along DOTMLPF functions.

Areas for consideration include:

- Maneuvering Strategically
- Expeditionary Maneuver
- Combined Arms Maneuver
- Wide Area Security
- Special Operations
- Expeditionary Warfare
- Linkage to global and theater campaign plans

Or, topics of interest:

- Strategic Landpower Leadership Attributes for Lieutenants, Captains and Majors
- Talent Management for Strategic Landpower
- Strategic Landpower Intelligence
- Expeditionary Logistics in Strategic Landpower
- Recruiting the Next generation of America's Strategic Landpower Soldiers
- Maneuver Support for Strategic Landpower
- Mission Command of Strategic Landpower
- Aviation in Strategic Landpower
- Fires in Strategic Landpower
- Engagement in Strategic Landpower
- Exploring the Human Domain as a foundation for Strategic Landpower
- Explore the characteristics of the Human Dimension in preparing the force for future conflicts

In order to share your ideas across the Army, TRADOC is requesting the submission of papers consisting of either a 600 - 800 word short narrative or 1600-2400 word article considered for publication in professional outlets. All writings should communicate across all services, government and not be confined to Army circles.

The February/March timeframe has been targeted to receive inputs. Submit entries to the TRADOC Commander's Planning Group attention: LTC Bogart at adrian.t.bogart.mil@mail.mil and MAJ Oliver at irvin.w.oliver2.mil@mail.mil.

This is a perfect opportunity for our future leaders to shape their future by describing how they see the application of Strategic Landpower!
